

Biography of Timothy P. Brigham, M.Div., Ph.D.

Timothy P. Brigham, M.Div., Ph.D. is the Chief of Staff and Senior Vice President, Department of Education at the Accreditation Council for Graduate Medical Education. Dr. Brigham spent 19 years at Jefferson Medical College as the Chief of Staff & Senior Associate Dean for Organizational Development, and Associate Professor of Medicine.

Dr. Brigham has extensive training and experience in the field of organizational development and group dynamics, with particular interests in leadership/management development, team building, conflict management, stress management, spirituality, individual and organizational communications, faculty development, strategic planning, and instruction of medical students, house staff officers and faculty for the purpose of teaching.

Dr. Brigham received his Doctorate from Temple University in Psychological Studies in Education and is an accomplished educator. He has extensive experience in undergraduate, graduate and post graduate continuing education from a number of colleges, universities, and medical schools.

Dr. Brigham is a member of the Group on Educational Affairs of the Association of American Medical Colleges, and is on the editorial board of the Health Policy Newsletter. He is the co-author of several publications in the peer review literature and has presented at various national and international conferences.

An avid Tai-chi practitioner, Dr. Brigham also enjoys running, mountain climbing and other outdoor activities. He and his spouse, Betty, have two children, Allison and Jonathan.

February 5, 2009